

Shauna Jones, Business Administration Apprentice, Occupational Health

I started my Business Administration apprenticeship within Occupational Health in October 2019. I have now been given a permanent position as a clerical officer. My apprenticeship has given me new skills that I can now take to further my career. I could just about work a computer when I first started and now I am very confident in what I do.

My manager has helped me get through the year and I have felt very welcomed by the department. I would definitely recommend an apprentice role within the health board if someone is looking to start or change career and learn new skills.
