Exercising for Type 1 Diabetes (EXTOD) have joined together with the All Wales Diabetes Implementation Group to offer an education programme focusing on exercise and diet for adults living with Type 1 diabetes in Wales.

This interactive programme has been established after EXTOD surveys found that people with Type 1 diabetes find managing glucose around exercise challenging and requested further education on this subject.

Why should you attend?

- Develop your knowledge
- Learn new ideas to put into practice
- Develop knowledge and tools to use on any activity/exercise in the future
- Access to online learning materials and videos

Who should attend?

Adults living with Type 1 diabetes who live in Wales and are on multiple daily injections or insulin pumps who exercise regularly or are planning to start to train for a specific event

This education programme will be delivered as two interactive online workshops on 20th March and 17th April 2021 as well as supporting materials and online videos.

In small online workshops, 12 people with Type 1 diabetes and two experts in the field of diabetes and exercise will use interactive tools, clinical cases, shared learning and problem-based tasks. The workshops will support participants to manage their exercise choices confidently and safely. Topics covered will include the effects of different types of exercise on blood glucose levels, the rule of threes for managing glucose around exercise, tips on nutrition and exercise, how diabetes technology can support exercising safely, and strategies to plan for exercise.

This meeting has been funded by All Wales Diabetes Implementation Group although a fully refundable deposit of £5.00* is required to secure the booking. Delegates experiencing current financial hardship can contact info@extod.education to secure registration without deposit.
