

Socialeyes Group

Aims:

- For you to build knowledge and confidence in core social communication skills.
- For you to learn and practice skills in a safe, supportive, ASD friendly environment
- To have an opportunity to meet other people with ASD who are interested in learning more about social communication skills.

Socialeyes is a learning resource developed by the National Autistic Society focusing on the unwritten rules of social communication that can be ambiguous or confusing. The course does not ask people on the autism spectrum to change 'inappropriate' social behaviour, nor to acquire the skills by copying the 'typical' behaviour of others.

This will be a relaxed group and you can talk and participate as much or as little as you like.
