Welfare Reform Factsheet Discretionary Assistance Fund (Social Fund replacement)

From April 2013, the Discretionary Assistance Fund in Wales replaces 'crisis loans' and 'community care grants' which were previously provided by the Department of Work and Pensions.

Budgeting loans are still administered by the Department of Work and Pensions and you can call them on 0845 6036967 to apply.

You can apply for help from the Discretionary Assistance Fund if you are not able to pay for what you need. Help is given by money or vouchers for goods or services.

What type of help will the fund offer?

Two types of help are available:-

- Emergency Assistance Payments
- Individual Assistance Payments

What is an Emergency Assistance Payment?

An Emergency Assistance Payment is to help you following an emergency or disaster. For example if there is a fire or flood in your home.

Am I eligible for an Emergency Assistance Payment?

To get help, you must be:-

- Aged 16 or over.
- Without money to meet your or your family's needs following an emergency or disaster.
- In serious risk to your or your family's health and safety.
- Without any other means of getting the help you need.

What can I apply for under an Emergency Assistance Payment?

- Money or goods to replace items that have been stolen, damaged, or destroyed.
- Expenses to help you buy essential items.

What is an Individual Assistance Payment?

Individual Assistance Payments are to help vulnerable people live independently. The level of support offered will depend on your needs and current circumstances including whether you have any savings or access to other money. You can apply for help for yourself, your family, or someone you care for or intend to care for.
