Stress

Pressures are a normal part of life and can be a useful motivator. However, when pressure becomes too great, you might feel yourself experiencing stress. Stress is very common and can start to take its toll on your mental health. Below are some resources for managing stress.

Understanding stress can help you to manage it better: the MIND website has useful information about what stress is, signs of stress, its causes and ways to deal with pressures

Physical activity can be a great way to relax and unwind. Try going for a walk, jog or use online exercise videos. Find advice by scanning the QR code: try 'Doing our bit', a free online exercise platform for NHS staff:

Stress Risk Assessment: ask your manager to conduct a work-related stress risk assessment. A stress risk assessment is an opportunity to collaborate with your manager to identify your stressors and make an action plan to reduce your work-related stress. You can view the Stress Risk Assessment form and guide on the Employee Wellbeing Service webpage-'Services and Support Section'-'Staff Wellbeing Information for Managers and Staff'

The Silvercloud online CBT service is free to access for NHS staff. Their stress program is an interactive way to reduce your stress
